and Integrity Award

TCMA Excellence in Ethics and Integrity Award

Purpose

The purpose of the Texas City Management Association (TCMA) Excellence in Ethics and Integrity Award is to recognize TCMA members who have served in the local government profession with dignity, honor, and integrity and have demonstrated exceptional ethics while carrying out their duties in local government.

Background

Ethics and integrity are the cornerstones of professional local government management. First adopted in 1984, the TCMA Code of Ethics serves as a guidepost for members who strive for excellence in providing services to citizens through professionalism, integrity, and selflessness. At times, following the TCMA Code of Ethics is challenging and can have career limiting impacts in political climates. Adhering to high ethical standards usually goes unrecognized by the public or media. However, when these attributes are violated, it can damage the public's sense of trust for all local government professionals. Because ethics are so vital to the city management profession, this award is viewed by TCMA as extremely high profile. It is only given to those individuals who have gone above and beyond to display the highest level of professionalism and integrity through an ethical dilemma. Receiving this award is one of the greatest honors an individual may achieve.
